

John Guerrero, Building & Facilities
(See FJD Notes page 4)

FIRST JUDICIAL DISTRICT OF PENNSYLVANIA THE COURTERLY

Fall 2002

POINTS OF INTEREST

- Employees Reach Milestones* 2, 3
- The FJD Welcomes Korean Visitors* 2
- Career-a-Palooza* 3
- We Shall Never Forget . . .* 3
- REAPP Summer Job Program a Success* 4
- Not Just Summer Interns* 4
- Race for the Cure 2002 . . .* 4
- FJD Notes* 4
- Philadelphia READS* 5
- Teamwork Pays Off* 6
- Together We Can Make a Difference* 6
- Community Court* 7
- Eugene Tatum — Just Do It* 7
- Apocryphal Metaphors . . .* 8
- Blast From the Past* 8
- Off the Bench* 8

FJD Information Center Holds Grand Opening

Amid much fun and fanfare, the First Judicial District Information Center officially opened on September 17th. The office is to serve as a centralized source for information about FJD constituent courts and divisions. Walk-in clientele can learn about trial schedules, where certain cases are heard, and how the FJD is organized and operates. The office is well appointed, pleasant, and welcoming due to the fine work of the construction staff, led by John Guerrero (see above). In addition, technology and other information sources are right at hand thanks to the efforts of Cliff Baumbach and the very capable MIS experts.

Ruth Bell Esq., Law Clerk to the President Judge, spearheaded the project and brought it to a successful opening. Also helping to realize this vision were Prothonotary Joseph Evers, Claire Kelly from Civil Administration, Phil Valone, Supervisor in the Prothonotary's Office, Internet Administrator Don Varley, and Len Hacking of the Court Administrator's Office. Boyd Taggart heads the information office.

Left: Director Boyd Taggart welcomes the first guests to the new Center.

Above (left to right): Municipal Court President Judge Louis J. Presenza, Common Pleas Court President Judge Frederica A. Massiah-Jackson, City Councilman Frank Rizzo, and Family Court Administrative Judge Myrna Field.

Below: Prothonotary Joseph Evers chats with City Councilwoman Jannie L. Blackwell.

More photos on page two

