

Dean Picciotti, Esquire

NCMC 2013

Dean Picciotti has twenty years of experience in senior management of both publicly and privately held businesses. His executive experience as CEO, COO, and CIO of large multi-national sales and service organizations includes the security, technology, reseller and finance industries. Mr. Picciotti is the President and Founder of Lexington Technology Auditing, Inc. Lexington provides IT security services to Government, Court Systems, Metropolitan Transit Systems, Schools and Private Industry throughout the Northeast.

Mr. Picciotti started in the Technology Industry as a mainframe System Operator in 1978. Prior to Lexington he was employed by a publicly traded Fortune 1000 Technology Company as Senior Vice President. Prior, thereto, he was appointed, by the United States District Court (EDPA), as CEO of Softmart, one of the world's largest Software Resellers. Mr. Picciotti serves on the Board of Directors and as an adviser to several companies and venture capital funds. Mr. Picciotti has served as an adviser to the US House of Representatives, House Administration Committee regarding Cyber-Security and has testified to the House Homeland Security Subcommittee on Cybersecurity, Infrastructure Protection, and Security Technologies.

Picciotti graduated from Rutgers Law School (JD) and West Chester University with a Bachelor of Science degree in Criminal Justice. He is a member of the PA & FL Bar and a member of the FBI's Infragard program. Mr. Picciotti is a member of the West Chester University Business School Board of Advisers, the United Way de Tocqueville Society, and the Board of Directors of the Marine Corps Law Enforcement Foundation (Philadelphia).