

Notice

August is Child Support Awareness month.

Pennsylvania is the first state in the country to exceed all federal performance measures, and leads the country in support collections and innovative programs, such as Performance Dashboard, statewide Training Institute, electronic payments and interactive website.

Philadelphia Domestic Relations anchors the state in responsive child support case management for the families and children in Philadelphia.

Child support information is available online at www.childsupport.state.pa.us